DRIVEN FIVE BLOCKS BY A CORPSE.

John Smith, While Dead, Ate Erect and Holds His Reins Taut.

When John Smith, a driver for Hoisler & Junge, bakers, was making a delivery at Twenty-fourth and State streets Monday afternoon, he met his friend H. F. McDowell of the town of Lake. Smith and McDowell stood talking by the wagon, at the edge of the sidewalk, when Smith suddenly complained of feeling ill. He pressed his hand to his breast and seemed for a moment to have difficulty in breathing. Then, saying he was better, but that he ought to go home at once, he asked McDowell to jump in the wagon and ride with him. Smith's house was at 4,325 Atlantic street.

Smith got in with his usual agility, and McDowell followed. Swinging his horse's head around as he picked up the reins and heading them south, Smith chirruped and the wagon rattled off at a lively pace. The bakery wagon seat has a bread box behind it, against which the driver's head can lean in a practically upright position. Smith got sick again as the team started and was disinclined to talk. Near Thirty-fourth street he pulled his hat a little over his eyes, and getting the horses well started again he relapsed into silence. Not wishing to disturb his friend McDowell looked about as the wagon rattled on south at a rapid pace. The horses were headed homeward, and McDowell thought it was their recklessness which caused the wagon to sway two or three times and now and then pass uncomfortably close to another vehicle's wheels. Smith held the reins taut. He did not speak, but sat stiffly with his head hard against the bread box. From under his lowered hat his eyes stared directly ahead. Dusk slightly veiled his features, and though McDowell thought several times that Smith was entirely too oblivious to danger he did not speak to him until they reached Thirty-ninth street and Riverton avenue.

Then he asked Smith how he felt. There was no reply. McDowell shook Smith's arm. Still the man did not move. McDowell, still grasping the arm, felt close to Smith's face and gasped in his eyes, but they did not move. With a start he realized that the driver had been five blocks by a corpse.

An Explanation From Disraeli.
 Mr. Justin McCarthy, discrediting on the house of commons, related a capital story of Disraeli. It was during the Russo-Turkish war, and while relations were strained between England and the czar a member was indiscreet enough to put a question to Disraeli, who was then prime minister, as to the policy of the government in the event of the emperor of Russia doing a certain act.

Members shuddered as Disraeli, with a most funeral face, slowly advanced to the table. The question, he declared, in a slow, measured voice, was one of such perilous moment that the honorable member acted most unwisely in putting it on the paper, yet it was a question of such importance that the only course now open to the government was to accept the inevitable and boldly answer "If," declared Disraeli, "the emperor takes this step, all I can say is—and I am speaking after a prolonged consultation with my colleagues—the government will then give the policy they are to pursue their very best consideration."—Westminster Gazette.

A REPUBLICAN'S VIEWS.

A communication from Thomas Nelson, an old citizen of Humboldt county, appears in the JOURNAL. Mr. Nelson is a Republican, and argues from the standpoint of that party. He says if Harrison had been elected there would be but the silver question to deal with. Conceding that his opinion is correct, the silver men can, with as good reason, say the same. If a free coinage President and Congress had been elected, the silver question would be disposed of ere this and the tariff question would be the only one of importance with which Congress would now have to deal.

Mr. Nelson is aware that the tariff has been an issue between the Republican and Democratic parties for years. The Mills bill was a party issue, though a few Republicans voted for it. In the last Presidential campaign tariff was the issue in every State east of the Missouri, and Republicans and Democrats exercised all the devices known to adroit politicians to make it the issue in the States west of the Missouri, and succeeded in doing so in some of these States.

The Democrats declared that the election of Cleveland indicated that the people of the East favored tariff reform, and Republicans in Congress admit as much. If all the States in which silver was made the issue had given their electoral votes for Harrison the result would not have been different.

Now Senators and Representatives, as well as many others who have given much attention to economic affairs, are of the opinion that the contraction of the currency, due to the demonetization of silver, is the cause of the business depression and low prices, as high tariff and free trade nations are alike affected. Outside of goldbug circles, their views on this question are not disputed. It is generally admitted that the passage or defeat of the Wilson bill will not restore prosperity to the country, and that the financial question is the paramount issue of the day.

No person, except a hide-bound partisan or one incapable of reasoning, will deny that the demonetization of silver is of the greatest importance to Nevada. Mining towns throughout the State which a few years ago afforded a home market for all the products of the farm and the dairy, are deserted, property has depreciated in value and commodities which are not affected by the tariff, as well as those which are protected, are selling at less than the cost of production. Why then should not the people of the whole country, but especially those of the silver producing States, agitate the silver question and endeavor to get the metal restored to its old standard?

THE FINANCIAL QUESTION PARAMOUNT.

The San Francisco Chronicle interviewed Senator John P. Jones of Nevada. The Senator's words as published in the Chronicle appear in this issue of the JOURNAL. He reiterates what he asserted in his speech in the Senate, and at Reno on his recent visit to this place. He says silver and the financial question are the paramount issue. No substantial relief can come to the country until the volume of money is increased. The gold standard is impracticable. The repeal of the Sherman act brought no relief; neither will the passage or defeat of the Wilson bill bring relief.

The attention of the citizens of Nevada, and especially of those who read the goldbug papers of the State, is directed to this interview with Senator Jones, as it proves that the JOURNAL did not misquote his statements when he visited Reno, as the goldbug papers insinuated it had done. It is also worth while to compare what the Senator says with one of the resolutions adopted by the Reno Republican Club, which charges "that the party in power is aided and abetted by other parties clothed with less power and claiming silver as their shibboleth, but in reality injuring the cause of bimetalism by their course and retarding State growth generally."

Senator Jones, as stated, declares in the halls of Congress and in numerous interviews in several States, that silver and the financial question is the paramount issue of the day. Silver is his shibboleth; yet no person whose brains are not addled, will accuse him or the Silver party of injuring the cause of bimetalism or retarding State growth generally, the resolution of the Reno Republican Club notwithstanding.

THE TRANSMISSISSIPPI CONGRESS.

The Transmississippi Commercial Congress meets in San Francisco to-day. Its first session was held in Galveston four years ago, its second at Denver, its third at Omaha, its fourth at New Orleans and its fifth at Ogden. Representatives have been appointed to these Congresses from all the States and Territories west of the Mississippi, and it is expected that about 500 delegates will be in attendance at the session in San Francisco.

The object of the Congress is to discuss all questions of public interest which affects the west, but especially those which may be the subject of legislation at Washington. Among these are the demonetization of silver, irrigation of arid lands, disposition of the public domain, mining laws, improvement of navigation in Pacific Coast and Gulf of Mexico harbors, Nicaragua

Canal and the annexation of Hawaii. Resolutions will be adopted on many if not all these questions expressive of public sentiment in the west with a view of influencing legislation in Congress.

SECRETARY CARLISLE is having a good deal of trouble with his bonds. H. C. Rieker, a Chicago man, who put in bids for the $50,000,000 bonds called for by the Secretary, has filed a petition in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for a mandamus to compel the Secretary to issue the $50,000,000 bonds to him according to the terms of his bids.

Petitions Against Free Wool—The Peckham Case and Hawaiian Question.

WASHINGTON, February 12.—In the Senate the Judiciary Committee decided to report the Peckham case with no recommendation.

A petition signed by 30,000 wool-growers owning one-seventh of all the sheep in the United States, protesting against the free wool clause of the tariff bill, was presented by Cullum. Among the petitions are the Navajo tribe of Indians, who own a million and a half of sheep.

A petition against free iron ore and free lumber was presented by Faulkner, and a similar petition protesting against the Wilson bill as a whole were presented by Cockrell and Gallinger.

Gray of Delaware addressed the Senate on the Hawaiian question. He said:

"The evidence all goes to show that the annexation movement was confined to that comparatively small junta of able, intelligent and vicious men who, with the aid of the American Minister, accomplished so far as they could the object which they had in view. I want to say now that I believe Stevens a good man, a good neighbor and an honest citizen, but he is not the most discreet man that ever occupied such a position in a foreign country. He knew the project in hand, and it is impossible for me to believe otherwise than that Stevens was in active complicity with the Provisional Government."

In the House business was confined exclusively to affairs of the District of Columbia.

BRAZILIAN NEWS.

Severe Fighting at Niteroy.

MONTVIDEO, February 12.—The Herald's correspondent in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, sends word that the fighting at Niteroy, where the rebels landed troops at Areia Point on February 9th, was very fierce. It could hardly be decided which force came out victorious. Many were killed and many others wounded on both sides, and the Government troops, commanded by General Argollo, made a valiant defense. The insurgents landed troops and destroyed the beach and hilltop forts of the Government. With six heavy guns and two magazine guns they swept the streets of Niteroy, but was finally forced to retreat before superior numbers of the Government forces. The government admits a loss of 200, but 500 is nearer the true loss. The insurgents succeeded beyond all hopes, having destroyed the Government position most menacing to the fleet, and having lost but 270 men in all.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children she gave them Castoria.

EATEN BY BEARS.

Horrible Fate of a New Mexico Woman.

SILVER CITY, N. M., February 12.—One of the saddest occurrences reported in this county in recent years happened on the Upper Gila about a week ago. A Mexican woman named Sisto Wesley, who had lost a little child a short time before, went to the graveyard, which is a lonely spot in a sparsely populated part of the county, to visit the grave of her little one, and while there two bears set upon her and completely devoured her.

Bears and mountain lions frequent the neighborhood where the woman was killed, but they have never before been known to attack a person unless wounded or closely pursued.

A Most Brutal Exhibition.

ALBANY, February 11.—A hair-pulling match for $25 a side between Michael Keating and Thomas Carney took place early this morning in a barn near this city. Each of the men weighed 160 pounds, and had long flowing locks. The hair-pulling lasted ten minutes, and at the end of that time great bunches of hair were scattered over the floor. The fifty spectators finally pulled the men apart, as Carney was bleeding from the nose and mouth and a fatal termination was feared.

SENATOR JONES INTERVIEWED.

Silver and the Financial Question the Paramount Issue.

The San Francisco Chronicle publishes an interview with Senator John P. Jones of Nevada.

THE TARIFF BILL.

As to the tariff bill in the Senate, the Senator thinks it is hard to say whether it will have a majority or not. He considers that there is no doubt that material changes will be made. The income tax is likely to be eliminated and the sugar clause may be changed. Personally Senator Jones considers an income tax more or less a premium upon perjury. The best people would pay it and the worst would avoid it. One man may receive an income of $15,000 or $20,000 on his ventures wherein he constantly risks his all in the enterprises. The results are uncertain and require his constant attention, while others have funds safely and permanently invested. Both should not be taxed the same.

THE PARAMOUNT ISSUE.

As to the bond issue, Mr. Jones says: "No prominent lawyer anywhere believes in Mr. Carlisle's right to issue bonds except for the purpose of redeeming the greenbacks in circulation at the time the act was passed." The Senator believes that silver and the financial question form the paramount issue. There can come no substantial relief to the country until the volume of money is increased either through the use of silver or otherwise. A gold standard is impracticable.

GOLD GROWS MORE VALUABLE.

"What does gold maintain a parity with?" he asked. "Its production is more a matter of chance than that of almost anything else. The parity of gold and all other money is in the unit of the product of labor. Since the demonetization of silver, gold has never remained on a parity with anything. It has steadily grown more and more valuable and everything else cheaper for the last twenty years. The repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act has brought no relief. I do not speak in behalf of the silver producers, who are but a handful, but in behalf of the millions whose interests are bound up in the silver question. What awaits protection against foreign competition while making conditions which render us powerless to withstand home competition? The passage of the Wilson bill will not bring relief, neither will its defeat."

World's Fair Views.

Two hundred and sixty views of the World's Fair will be exhibited in the Opera House, Reno, next Thursday and Friday, February 16th and 17th. The Midway Pleasure with its strange sights and still stranger people will be exhibited. You will be able to see the wedding procession in the streets of Cairo and take a ride in the famous Ferris wheel.

Boys and girls selling $2 worth of tickets for these lectures will be given a free ticket. Apply for tickets at Finninger's drug store.

Ventilation.

Not the politicians sort, but fresh air you need. Health and comfort often suffer for this kind of ventilation. Never sleep in a poorly ventilated room. You'll wake up unrefreshed, out of sorts and bilious. Perhaps you can't improve the ventilation, but you can take Simmon's Liver Regulator for that torpid liver, to keep it active against the ill effects of a close atmosphere which causes that languid feeling.

Death of a Venerable Lady.

The venerable mother of ex-Governor Jewett Adams of Nevada died in San Francisco last Saturday, aged 79 years. She was a native of Vermont and came to the Pacific Coast in early days. Mr. Adams and General Keating went to San Francisco Sunday night to attend the funeral.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children she gave them Castoria.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts on the kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

WILLIAM FINNIGER, Druggist.

Telegraphic Notes.

Terrible storms are reported raging in the Middle States.

Wheat yesterday fell 2 1/2 cents per cental at San Francisco.

John B. Lamont, father of Secretary of War Dan Lamont, died yesterday.

The President yesterday transmitted to Congress the remainder of his Hawaiian message.

David H. Hall was appointed Register of the land office at Carson City yesterday by the President.

The petition of Carroll Rieker of Chicago to compel the Secretary of the Treasury to issue him $50,000,000 worth of bonds has been denied.

It is probable that the Senate will not report the Tariff bill for some weeks. The sugar schedule will undoubtedly be changed but in just what way has not yet been decided.

The crew of the wrecked Kearsarge was rescued Saturday. The old warship was abandoned on Reef Ronconador with the stars and stripes still floating at her peak. The steamer City of Para, with the crew on board, will leave for New York Wednesday.

Advices from Salt Lake City, Utah, are to the effect that the snow blocked the Union Pacific tracks between that city and Ogden. High winds piled the snow in the cuts faster than it could be dug out, but as soon as the storm ceased the tracks were cleared.

Bland yesterday stated that at some future date he would move to amend his silver seigniorage bill so that silver certificates would be issued only as fast as the silver dollars are coined, with the added authority to the Secretary of the Treasury to issue the certificates in advance of the coinage if he so desired.
